to "MAKE HIS MARK."--REV. Mr. Governor Wise, a young Episcopal minister, who has just returned from Richmond, Va., has so far departed from the usual ideas of propriety as to preach to a mixed congregation of colored and white people. He also discards the priestly vestments, and appears in his ordinary dress, and wears a white cravat to distinguish him from the colored people. He talks very boldly to the slave of his religious duties to their service, and has a large congregation. Mrs. Sophronia Randle, a married woman, who has just returned from a small town in Michigan, reports that she has seen a young man named Wm. Wrightman, who is a member of the Methodist Church, at a village near Chatham, C. W.

A New York critic states that the musical fashionable world thought the performance at the Academy, for the relief of the widows and orphans made by the war. The great star of the evening was a Knickerbocker Countess, the wife of a millionaire, the wife of a French

The Wheeling Times learns from what the Botts and Wise affray is. It appears that when Wise's in relation to the Hon. John M. appeared, young Botts determined to use in his own office. He was discomfited by discreet friends, and his relation to Wise which has since. It was understood, it is said, of a challenge, Botts would have been at a short distance, and Wise, the pistol shot, is not familiar with the rifle. He refused not to carry the matter farther.

REALITY.—It has already been stated that Mack, the inventor of the reaping-machine, represented $100,000 for the endowment of professorships in a Theological Seminary at Illinois. The Philadelphia Ledger says that the fact shows not only the liberality of the gift, but that it proves how largely he must have expended his genius in the reaping-machine.

Mr. Huey the nominee for the Senate. This is an error. Mr. Huey is not a candidate. Col. Machen is the nominee, as he is belted that nomination, and per the canvass upon his own hook. The result is, that Col. Machen has decided the field under the circumstances, and Messrs. Mr. Huey withdraws from the contest. The next result is, that numbers of the voters in the district will not vote for Dr. Johnson will certainly be small. So the Senator from this district will be elected. — Advocate
